Photography submissions can take inspiration from literal or abstract interpretations of this year's theme “Borders and Peripheries”. For example, physical, geographical and topographical borders such as Belgrade's rivers which once formed borders between two great empires (Ottoman and Austro-Hungarian) or minorities, immigrants and other members of society whose daily lives take place on the periphery of life in Serbia. Contestants may also take a more abstract approach to the theme such as the border between reality and fantasy, past and present, fact and fiction.
